Madison

Often sought by corporate leadership for his balanced advice, Tom concentrates his practice on several areas of business law, including financial institutions, commercial and real estate transactions, corporate and tax law, exempt organizations, estate planning, and government regulatory matters.

For more than 40 years he has maintained a steadfast commitment not only to his career but also to the community. He has donated his services to countless organizations because he believes every lawyer has a duty to serve the public interest. A few of the organizations Tom has been involved with include the United Way, Big Brothers, Planned Parenthood and Grace Episcopal Church. Whether serving as a director, trustee or officer, his contributions to community organizations are commendable.

Again, reflecting his commitment to the community, during the early years of his career, Tom helped the State Bar to lobby the Wisconsin Legislature to adopt one of the first child abuse laws which required teachers and others to notify authorities if child abuse was suspected. More recently, for more than seven years he was the Chair of the State Bar's Unauthorized Practice of Law (UPL) Committee. In that capacity he was able to assist in convincing the Supreme Court to adopt a court rule defining what constitutes unlawful practice of the law in order to protect the public and create methods to deal with those doing so.

Although Tom is in phased retirement, he continues to faithfully serve his long-time business and individual clients and also assists new clients in locating the DeWitt lawyer that best meets their needs.
